SOULPEPPER PRESENTS THE SOHO THEATRE AND HALEY MCGEE PRODUCTION
IN ASSOCIATION WITH LUMINATO FESTIVAL TORONTO

AGE IS A FEELING

WRITTEN & PERFORMED BY HALEY MCGEE

Illustrations: Graeala Lam

We are thrilled to welcome back Haley McGee to Soulpepper with the North American premiere of Age is a Feeling. We have been eagerly awaiting her return after the extraordinary run of The Ex-Boyfriend Yard Sale in 2022. Our audiences would have first seen a glimpse of Age is a Feeling in Soulpepper's Fresh Ink Series in 2020. Since then, it has been making waves, premiering at the Edinburgh Fringe, garnering an Olivier nomination, a Fringe First Award, and two sold-out runs at London's Soho Theatre. We have been waiting four years for this moment, and can't wait for you to experience it.

Haley is truly a special artist. If you have never experienced one of her shows, you're in for a treat. And if you managed to catch The Ex-Boyfriend Yard Sale, you have an idea of what a unique experience one of her shows is. Her gift is her ability to tell us a story that is deeply moving and profound with humour and honesty. Age is a Feeling is never the same show twice, so what you're about to see is just for you.

Up next at Soulpepper is the return of A Streetcar Named Desire which I have the joy and honour in directing again. If you missed the sold-out run in 2019, be sure you get your tickets now. If you did see it then, you'll want to come back. I'm still finding so much to uncover in this beautiful play, and it continues to feel so relevant to our current day. This version of Streetcar also has some wonderful new cast members including Shakura Dickson as Stella, Divine Brown as our lead vocalist and Willie Mae, and Ordena Stephens-Thompson as Eunice Hubbell. We also have the powerful performances of Mac Fyfe and Amy Rutherford to look forward to, who are returning as Stanley Kowalski and Blanche DuBois.

We have also just announced our 2024/25 season with an exciting line up including everything from new world premieres to a Tony Award winning musical, which you can find near the back of this playbill. Go to soulpepper.ca and check out our new subscription and membership options.

We look forward to welcoming you back to Soulpepper soon.

WEYNI MENGESHA

Artistic Director,
Soulpepper Theatre Company

Age is a Feeling began in the same way many of my previous solo shows did, as a short piece, performed on a mixed bill, alongside other theatre projects in nascent stages of development.

It was 2019. I'd been living in the UK for three years. I was adapting my show The Ex-Boyfriend Yard Sale (which you may have seen) into a book. And putting together a brand new 15-minute theatre piece was a welcome break from rehashing my romantic failings and contending with turning a highly visual and athletic theatre show into nothing but words on a page.

After this first ever performance of Age, a man who'd been in the audience introduced himself. His name was Adam Brace; he was the associate director of Soho Theatre.

I knew the name but not the face. I'd written him many emails, even sent him snail mail, in the hopes that the legendary Soho Theatre would present my work to London audiences. Alas, I'd never had a response. I hadn't invited him to this little performance though. This was just one of those serendipitous things. He wanted to commission the show.

Over the next several years we worked together on Age—me as the writer/performer and Adam as the dramaturg/director.

Adam was an extraordinarily gifted dramaturg (a dramaturg is to a playwright what an editor is to an author). He pushed me as a writer, emboldened me in my voice. As a director, Adam's best notes about my acting often felt like they could be advice for living.

I'm writing about Adam in the past tense because he died of a stroke last year. He was 43. We'd just finished two runs of the show at Soho Theatre and been nominated for an Olivier Award. His contributions to the show were essential to those accomplishments.

He became a friend, but he was a colleague first. He was many peoples' friend and colleague, beloved by and instrumental to the success of artists across comedy, performance art and theatre in the UK.

Adam might hate that I've written this note about him. But we agreed that I should never write an introduction to this play that was about the content of the play—this play should always speak for itself. The play is not about Adam, but the text and this production would not exist without him.

He is profoundly missed and he's also right here.

Age is a Feeling was commissioned by Soho Theatre and supported by Camden People's Theatre. Excerpts have been performed at Camden People's Theatre, Soulpepper Theatre's Fresh Ink series (April 2020) & Brainchild's Hatch (Oct 2021). Work-in-progress performances took place in Oct 2021 & May 2022 at The Rosemary Branch Theatre.

Haley would love to thank Mitchell Cushman, my long time collaborator and friend for jumping into this project and bringing this next iteration to life with me. The entire team at Soulpepper for embracing this show and working so hard on its behalf, especially Robyn Hoja, Jasmine Knox, Lisa Nighswander, Patricia Vinluan, Leslie Hernandez, Rhett Costin, Paul Boddum, Riaz Charania, Julia Carrano, Jonathan Heppner, Gideon Arthurs and Weyni Mengesha. Soho Theatre for commissioning this show and all their support, especially David Luff and Maddie Wilson. Our incredible production team: Dan Carter-Brennan, Zoë Hurwitz and Robert Moutrey. Our fabulous stage managers Meghan Speakman and Emmanuelle So. Derrick Chua for producing and being our defacto PM—true blue incredible addition to every project! Paul Howley for building us our most amazing set piece. Illustrator, Jason Logan, for his beautiful work. And you, the audience, thank you for being here. What a privilege to share this show with you.

Content Warning: Mature Language & Themes. Recommended for Ages 16+

*The participation of these Artists is arranged by permission of Canadian Actors' Equity Association under the provisions of the Dance Opera Theatre Policy (DOT).

HALEY MCGEE is a writer and actor, born and raised in Kitchener-Waterloo, she lived in Toronto for about a decade before relocating to London UK, where she now lives. Haley wrote and performed Age is a Feeling to sold out audiences at the 2022 Edinburgh Fringe, winning a Fringe First and transferring to the Soho Theatre London for two sold out runs. The show was subsequently nominated for an Olivier Award. Haley won a Dora Award for her solo show The Ex-Boyfriend Yard Sale, which has been adapted into a book of the same name, published by Penguin Random House Canada. She has toured her other solo shows to 11 countries where they've won awards and received rave reviews, and writing has been translated into 10 languages. As an actor she has appeared on the BBC, CBC, Radio4 and on stages across the UK and Canada. She holds a BFA in Acting from Toronto Metropolitan University and trained at the Second City Conservatory and the Free Association. Haley teaches online courses and workshops on solo show creation and self-producing theatre. Learn more at: www.haleymcgee.ca / @yeshaleymcgee

The artists and staff of Soulpepper and the Young Centre for the Performing Arts acknowledge the original caretakers and storytellers of this land —the Mississaugas of the Credit, the Haudenosaunee, the Anishinaabe, and the Wendat First Nations. We commit to honouring and celebrating their past, present and future.
